The July meeting of the Board of Trustees of the North Central Regional Library was called to order by Deborah Moore, Vice Chair, in the absence of Lynn Beltz. Board members Roger Lucas, Jennifer Maydole, and Barbara Wolff were present. Executive Director Dean Marney, Director of Public Services Dan Howard, Associate Director Marilyn Neumiller, Finance Manager Sue DeWitz, HR Manager Dixie Taylor, and Administrative Assistant Anne Brangwin were present as well.

The agenda and minutes of the last meeting were accepted as presented.

The Director's Report included Trustees, Personnel, Litigation, Balanced Scorecard, Services, Meetings, and Buildings. Alec McKay has an article in the latest edition of ALKI, the Journal of the Washington Library Association. There are no personnel changes this month. A change was made in the law regarding Jury Duty. Over the next month NCRL will be reimbursing several employees who turned their Jury Duty payment over to NCRL. Marney recommended that NCRL hold off on hiring a consultant to conduct a full salary study at this time. After checking with two comparable library systems he feels that the current pay scale remains competitive. The Public Disclosure request of an employee's personnel records has been resolved. Moore, McKay, Brucker, and Howard attended the oral argument on the Certification of the Question at the Temple of Justice, before the Washington Supreme Court Justices, on June 23, 2009. Marney had a short interview on the Seattle radio station KUOW, an NPR affiliate. The Wenatchee World published Marney's guest editorial in response to Tracey Warner's editorial about the case. Following the success of the springtime campaign to increase use of Tutor.com and other online educational resources, NCRL is planning a new campaign for fall. The Summer Reading Program is going well and projections show a strong increase in the number of minutes read by the kids in the region. Gailene Hooper, Republic Librarian, is representing NCRL at a meeting of interested parties from Ferry, Stevens, and Pend Oreille Counties who are attempting to procure stimulus funds to improve Broadband Access in these areas. Barbara Walters and Chad Roseburg are on schedule to deliver the new Gates Foundation computers to branches this month. Marney and Howard will be attending the PNLA Conference in Missoula on August 6 and 7. The Washington Association of Library Employees is holding their annual meeting in Wenatchee in October. NCRL is helping with the technology needs and providing parts of the program. The pre-conference workshop will be held at the Distribution Center. Public use of the Distribution Center was high during the month of June. The desks have been removed and furniture had been purchased for the landing area at the top of the stairs at the Distribution Center.

Howard presented the July Branch Report. One hundred and fifty people attended an event on the property of the future Quincy Library on July 8th. Republic Librarian
